

Storytellers of San Diego (1/10/2013)

Programs and Suggested Fees

This schedule will give an idea of usual and accepted fees in the industry and should be considered as general guidelines only for such things as projecting budgets and applying for grants. Please keep in mind that many factors go into pricing: location, audience size and composition, travel distance, research and development time for customized programs and more. Some tellers will charge less than this; others will charge more. So plan to discuss details with the individual storyteller. Discounts may be available for multiple programs, either same day/same site or regularly scheduled monthly/quarterly. In addition, sometimes other discounts are offered by individual storytellers in special circumstances.
